I'm Manoj Negi, an SEO professional and consultant with more than 14 years of experience helping businesses improve their online visibility and build sustainable organic growth. Since beginning my SEO journey in 2009, I have worked with startups, educational institutions, healthcare providers, manufacturers, eCommerce businesses, SaaS companies, professional service providers, and established organizations across India and international markets.

My SEO approach is built around understanding each business, its audience, competition, website, and growth objectives. Rather than focusing only on rankings or traffic, I aim to connect search visibility with meaningful outcomes such as qualified visitors, enquiries, leads, conversions, brand credibility, and long-term business development.

SEO Services and Specialties

My core services include:

SEO Consulting and Strategy: Tailored SEO planning based on business goals, search intent, competition, and opportunities.

Technical SEO: Website audits, crawlability, indexation, site architecture, mobile usability, page performance, and structured data recommendations.

Local SEO: Google Business Profile optimization, Google Maps visibility, local keyword research, location pages, citations, review guidance, and local authority building.

SEO Audits: Reviewing technical, content, on-page, and authority-related issues to identify practical improvement priorities.

Keyword Research and Content Strategy: Finding relevant search opportunities and planning useful content around customer questions and intent.

Topical Authority and E-E-A-T: Developing connected content and credibility signals that demonstrate subject expertise and support user trust.

E-commerce and Industry SEO: Improving search foundations and content strategies for online stores and businesses in education, healthcare, SaaS, manufacturing, and professional services.

AI SEO, GEO and AEO: Preparing clear, useful, structured website information for evolving search experiences, including AI-powered search platforms.

My Approach

I believe effective SEO is an ongoing process that requires strong fundamentals, useful content, technical quality, transparency, and continuous improvement. I do not promise guaranteed rankings or rely on shortcuts such as keyword stuffing, manipulative link schemes, cloaking, or doorway pages. Instead, I focus on ethical, user-oriented work and practical recommendations that support long-term visibility.

Every business has different needs. A local service provider may require stronger Maps visibility, while an eCommerce website may need better category structure, product content, and technical optimization. My role is to understand those differences and shape an SEO plan accordingly.

Who I Work With

I support startups, small and medium-sized businesses, growing brands, and established organizations that want to strengthen their organic search presence. My work is relevant to businesses seeking better local visibility, stronger service-page performance, content-led growth, improved technical SEO, or a more strategic approach to search.

My goal is to help businesses become easier to discover, more credible to potential customers, and better prepared for changes in the search landscape.
