India is one of the top countries known for producing and exporting high-quality textiles. Among all textile products, hand towels from India are especially popular because of their comfort, absorbency, and long life. As a leading hand towel exporter from India, the country supplies millions of towels to countries around the world every year. Indian hand towels are loved for their softness, bright colors, and perfect finish, making them suitable for homes, hotels, gyms, and spas.
